IMBODEN PLANNED EASTERN TRIP.

Before Death He Is Said to Have Spoken of Taking "Sweetheart" With Him.

REFERRED TO MISS PIERCE.

Lewis Lyon Proved an Important Witness for Plaintiff in the Suit Involving Dead Capitalists Estate.

"My daughter is to be married soon, and I am going on a trip East with my little sweetheart," said Luther E. Imboden two menths before his death, to Lewis Lyon of No. 3842 Olive street, according to the lat ter's testimony yesterday, taken by deposi-tion in the Pierce-Imboden suit. Lyon was much surprised at this disasked. "The little dark-eyed lady whom you saw the other day in the safe deposit offices." The above conversation, as related in evidence, is thought to be important in the legal action, upon the issue of which hangs the disposition of a $500,000 estate. It is looked upon by Attorney Joseph Wheless, representing the petitioner, Lillie Belle Pierce, as indicating a velled expression of the part of Imboden of formally marrying the plaintiff as soon as his daughter, who but lately became Mrs. J. G. Parrish, was

According to the story told by the plaintiff, the common-law marriage contract was be absolutely secret until after the daughter's wedding. Everybody concerned, Miss Pierce avers, was bound to the closest secrecy until the event transpired. Theu was the public announcement to be made and the casual words of Lyon are taken as hinting, to another besides those person-ally interested, the purpose of a public mar-

WITNESS DID NOT KNOW PLAITIFF. Each of Imboden's old friends who have taken the stand testify that the dead man was very reserved in discussing his personal affairs. That he should go so far with Mr. Lyon is considered significant.

Lyon did not know Miss Pierce; never having been introduced to her. But on several occasions, at the theater and at the vaults of the Missouri Safe Deposit Company in the Equitable building, he had seen her in company with Imboden. He positive-ly identified her yesterday at the office of Attorney Wheless, where she sat listening to the depositions, as the woman whom he had noticed.

Morris S. Hacht of No. 5303 Minerva ave nue, closest friend of Imboden, testified in a manner, on the whole damaging to the claims of Miss Pierce. He admitted that Imboden always was extremely courteous to and considerate of Miss Pierce, but that he never spoke of her as a wife, nor hinted an intention of marrying her. He declared Washington avenue car with Imboden, and that the latter had introduced her as Miss

Mr. Hecht was first called to the stand. He said that he was a retired real estate ing been associated with him in business enterprises. He never had any conversation him concerning Miss Pierce, but had been in her house in company with Imboden seven or eight times. "I generally went between 7 and 8 in the evening," said he, "and remained until between 10 and 11. On several occasions I took meals there, at which Imboden acted s host and served the vlands. In one instance, I was invited to dine there in company with a lady who was a friend of mine. But I did not. "On another occasion, when Imboden's daughter, now Mrs. Parrish, was sick remember having been asked by Imbodes o carry messages to her. I was requested to do all that I could for her comfort. Imoden asked me if I had any money. I said that I had not, and he asked me to get a check cashed, which I did, for $20. I put the money inside of a note, which he had given far as I know, Imboden paid attentions to no other woman during this time. "Once, during his absence from the city by his request, I called on her several times and tried to make things as picasant as possible. I supposed that they were merely friends.

ASKED TO BE TAKEN TO VIEW THE BODY.

"At the death of Imboden, I went to his house. While there I received a note from Miss Pierce, stating that she wished to see me. I called upon her. She appeared much broken up as algnt be expected when one has lost their closest friend.

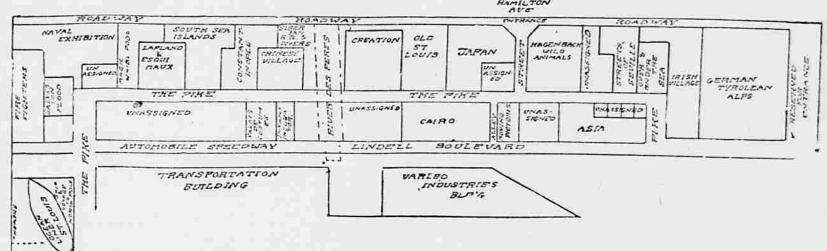

"I asked if there was anything I could do for her, and she replied that I could do her a very great favor-escort her to the Imboden home and allow her to see the body. At first I consented, but, coming later at the hour set, I had changed my mind. I told her that I did not think it my province to interfere in the matter. Hence, I did not go with her."

In cross-examination, Attorney J. D. Dalton brought out that she had been introduced as Miss Pierce and that Imboder ever spoke of marrying or of having mar-

At the beginning of the examination of Mr. Lyon the conversation regarding Imboden's "little sweatheart" was brought out. Lyon and Imboden also were associated in business matters and were very friendly. When Imboden first mentioned a trip East Lyon supposed he meant to go with his daughter and her husband. But imboden expressly denied this and said that he was joing with "his little sweetheart."

Attorney Dalton tried to shake him upon the identification of Miss Pierce, but failed. Lyon seemed sure that Imboden never was attentive to any other woman during the last six years of his life.

DOZENS OF LIVES ARE SAVED.

Tear Up Shirt to Make a Flag and Halt the Train Just as It Would Have Gone on Structure.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Alhambra, Ill., July 18.-Two boys averted a terrible wreck with the probable loss of dozens of lives by flagging the early morning express on the Illinois Central be fore it ran on the bridge across Silver Creek, which had been partially burned away, three miles north of here, yesterday

The boys, John and William Bilen, 12 and 14 years old, who live on a farm near the creek, were on their way to a neighbor's when they saw smoke issuing from the bridge some little distance from them. They wondered what it meant and ran over to the railroad track and out on the bridge, About middle way out they discovered that forty feet of the structure had been burned away and the bridge was still in They know that the fast express would be along in a few minutes and-if it were allowed to run on the bridge it would surely go down in midstream with great oss of life. It must be stopped. They both knew it and they set about their important task. They had no flag, but that trifle was soon mended. John tore up his shirt and tied transmitted to the police commissaries in it to a staff. Then together they ran up his jurisdiction the following circular: the track to meet the train. About a half mile from the bridge they heard the on- enev April 19 and 20, and in consequence, coming train, so taking their position in also, of the alarming reports in circulation the middle of the track they began to wave

Colonel Sinclair Musters In a Regimental Band and the Troops Start in Good Form for Week's Outing.

The First Regiment and Light Battery A of the Missouri National Guard departed last night at 10 o'clock for the annual encampment of State troops at Lake Con trary, near St. Joseph, Mo. The First Regiment departed over the Burlington and Battery A over the Missouri Pacific, They will arrive at camp this morning. The First Regiment assembled at the Armory about 9 o'clock. An hour later it proeeded to Union Station in heavy marching order. The regiment was composed of about 650 men, including the band. Battery A was composed of about seventy men. On the same train with Battery "A" was the Sixth Battalion, unattached. This battalion is composed of four companies, one and Cape Giradeau. It was under the command of Captain Joseph Alberts, Jr. Colonel Sinclair mustered in a band Friday night. It was at first thought that no band would accompany the regiment, as the egular band refused to go unless the mem bers were paid more than the State allow-ance. By hard work a band of about twenty-five pieces was collected. A large number of recruits have bee number of men in each company well above the minimum required by the State law They will remain in camp for a week.

The new Krag-Jorgensen guns have no yet been received by the regiment, but of-ficers have been informed that they are on the road here from the arsenal WAITING ON GUNS. The First Regiment is the only one in the State that is not equipped with these guns. If they had arrived in time for the regi-ment to take them to the encampment it is probable that the guns would not have been used, as it would require a week or nore for the men to learn the manual.

As none of the officers of Company B can attend, it is probable that this company will be consolidated with one of the others as soon as camp is reached. Major Marquardt did not go to the camp with the regiment, but expects to be present for the maneuvers and ceremonies of the last two days of the encampment. On Thursday night, Captain Clark, Lieutenant Cabell Gray and Robert W.
